CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING

Turning Out. Though the frest of the past week made the ground unsuitable for cross-country work, not a few turned out for their accustomed spin yesterday. On the Jerome avenue course the regular monthly handi-cap run of the St. George A. C. took place.

Twelve Thousand Cheer as Gladlators of the Wheel Whiz Over Circle of Pine-Young Corbett the Starter - Spectators

Bring Lunch for All-Night Stege. Six days on a bleycle over a saucer-shaped track of pine boards, ten laps to the mile, Garden shortly after 12 o'clock last night by sixteen sturdy pedal pushers, who repented as many different teams. It was annual long grind over the girdle of pine. The men, looking rosy and lusty, were inspired by the tumultuous cheering of a crowd of about 6,000 wildly enthusiastic persons, who stood up and yelled like Indians.

The men were sent away by a pistel shot fired by William C. Rothwell, better known thinking only of the glory to be won and not of the agony to be endured. They looked bithe, agile and ambitious, full of grit and stamins, every man of them, and the cheering of the thousands acted as a stimulant. They were out to a man to do or die.

The 'st-day race as run nowadays is a very different proposition from what it formerly was. In 1898 the Legislature of the State passed a bill prohibiting the six-day races of the original type, in which individual riders sat on their wheels for twelve and even twenty hours at a stretch. The law said no man could ride for more than twelve hours of the twenty-four, and from this was developed the present plan of team racing, in which the race is between pairs instead of individuals. Neither man of any team may ride more than twelve hours a day, and if either man becomes disabled his team will be disqualified. The men of the teams may, however, split up the time to suit themselves or trainers. They may ride for an hour at a time, turn and turn about, or for twelve hours at a stretch. Each man is kept in a state of preparedness for the track, so as to replace his partner. In case of punctures the distance lost will be allowed to the rider, but his partner must replace him on the track inmediately.

The record for races of this kind is 2,733 miles, 4 laps made by Chariey Miller and Frank Waller in 1899. Last year the winners were Harry Elkes and Floyd McFarland, who rode 2,628 miles, 7 laps. The best record made by an individual in six days is that of Charley Miller, who rode 2,192 miles at San Francisco in February, 1898.

The track on which the race is ridden differs materially from the circuit used in other years. The present track is banked a little bit steeper and more scientifically. The pine boards, instead of being laid broadwise, have been set on the sides and nailed sideways, as in the case of bowling alleys. It is altogether a better and a faster track than those used for former races.

The men who started in the six-day ride through the smaller of the mace which liquid and solid food are served to the riders by trainers lined the pole on the starting side. The infield board flooring was plentifully and more than plentifully occupied by lunch and candy stands, weighing machines and other catch-penny devices. The basement reminded one of the Bowery at Coney Island. There were striking machines "knock the babies down" fakirs and men with a new electric rife set on a stand and workable at a cent a shot. The house began to fill before a o'clock and at 10:30 there were 4,000 persons present.

A concert was rendered for the edification of the enthesiasts who arrived early, many of whom carried lunch, with intent to remain all right. ich liquid and solid food are served to the BASEBALL National League Magnates Have a Busy Week Before Them.

The majority of National League baseball magnates will arrive in town to-day to begin what bids fair to be the most important meeting held in many years. John T. Brush, the head man at scheming, has been here for the past month, making several trips to Red Bank to consult with Freedman, the leader of the League, as far as politics go. Frank DeHass Robison of St. Louis, got in last night, but re-fused to be seen. It will be natural for the magnates, as they arrive, to ask what Brush has been doing here for a month past; also to find out whether he and Freedman were really the men who declared the old national agree-ment null and yold. It is also not at all improbable that they will be anxious to know whether Brush has had a hand in the American Association pie which has resulted in the expulsion of Thomas J. Hickey from the minor league organization of which P. T. Powers is the President. The men were sent away by a pistel shot fired by William C. Rothwell, better known as Young Corbett, the conqueror of Terry McGovern. The men were lined up four alreast and pushed of simultaneously. Chlef Refere A. G. Batchelder was present on crutches. It was his first appearance out of doors since he was in the automobile that was smashed by a locomotive on Long Island in October. There was pienty of entertainment before the race began. A delegation of the Century Road Club Association about 500 strong, including many women, had a parade on the track by permission of the management.

At 10 colock the first of the men who were to start in the long ride appeared on the track and rode about half a mile. It was ofto Maya. About half an hour later the other man began to appear for preliminary spins and each in turn was roundly cheered. The scene at the start was a stirring one. The riders, clad in tights and Jerseys of all sorts of hues, flashed about the track like an animated rainbow.

COLUMBIA'S FOOTBALL PLANS. Several Important Changes With a View to Better Results.

GOSSIP OF THE RUNNERS.

There has been much discussion at Columbia University last week about the football policy to be pursued next year. As a result it seems certain that several important changes will be made. In the first place it is more than likely that the preliminary fall work at Branford Point, Conn., will be cut out in 1902. The consensus of opinion seems to be that more men will report on South Field in September than could be induced to leave the city just before the college term. Class football, which has been abandoned since a 'Varsity team was installed at Columbia, will be revived to develop more material. A step was taken in this direction this fall in the organization of the freshman team. It is hoped that next year besides having a team to represent every class, the

> by his famous stable mates, Cap and Bells, Tommy Atkins and Commando, the champion of them all. But early this year the coit showed such marked improvement that Trainer Rowe was encouraged. In his first start Conroy won the Jockey Club weightfor-age race at Morris Park in hollow fashion. His performance showed so well that when he went to the post for the Brooklyn Handicap he had plenty of backing, though the race had never been taken by a three-year-old. Conroy won in brilliant style and together with Commando, who had also begun the campaign in impressive fashion, the Keene stable seemed to hold all of the rich threeyear-old specials safe. But, it will be re-membered, Conroy never was able to race again, for he had gone lame. Commando, too, went amiss in the Lawrence Realization and followed Conrey to the stable for good, Both colts were later sent to the stud in Kentucky. Conroy's departure for England, therefore, comes in the nature of a surprise.

Both coits were later sent to the stud in Kentucky. Conroy's departure for England, therefore, comes in the nature of a surprise. Whether he has recovered his old-time speed and strength nobody seems to know, but it is believed that the Messrs Keene would not have sent him abroad in a helpless condition. Conroy's invasion of English tracks naturally revives the story that Trainer Rowe will go to England to handle the Keene horses, but that is something that Rowe is not talking of just at present.

W. C. Whitney, in addition to confirming the report that John Huggins will return to England to train his leased horses, makes the positive assertion, which he made once before last summer, that he will bring back to this country all but one or two of his American thoroughbreds. While Mr. Whitney does not specify, it is believed that Kilmarnock II. Elizabeth M. and Elkhorn are the Derby again, this time with an Americanbred horse, if possible.

In an interview yesterday Mr. Whitney said:

"If one has an eligible horse likely to win one of the English classic races like the Derby, the Oaks or the St. Leger, it would be rather strange not to try. Winning one of these races with an American horse reflects credit on, our breeding and is properly a matter of pride to us. It is not at all unlikely therefore that I may be found trying for one of these events again. Mr. Huggins is desirous of trying for the Derby again, so I have decided to allow one or more of my horses to go abroad for that purpose. Incidentally it solves for me a difficult problem, namely what to do with the English horses that I have there under lease. I don't own the horses and as the owners are well satisfied with Mr. Huggins they will remain in his hands instead of being turned over to some English trainer.

Mr. Whitney would not mention the names of the horses likely to carry his colors in the Derby, but, as horsemen have believed all along. Goldsmith and Nasturtium are the ones. It was said yesterday that these two colts have favorably impressed Hugg

Conroy, the Brooklyn Handleap Winner, Sent Over by the Keenes, and W. C. Whitney Says He Will, Try Again for the Derby -Comments by Lester Reiff.

Turfmen were surprised to learn yesterday that Conroy, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap at Gravesend last May, has been shipped by his owners, J. R. & F. P. Keene, to England. The colt, who is the first three-year-old on record to win the Brooklyn, was among a consignment of thoroughbreds that were sent from here on Saturday on the steamship Minneapolis. With Conroy were a twoyear-old, said to be Telescope, by Horoscope— Emma C., the great Commando's dam, and a yearing.
